Main occupational experiences

Beside a scientific collaboration with the U687-Inserm (Public health and epidemiology of the social and occupational determinants of health) from 2005 to 2014, I began working at the Lille area General Cancer Registry in 2007, as an epidemiologist. This registry is one of the most recent population-based cancer registry of France. It is located in Northern France, in an area with a particularly high cancer incidence and mortality. Studies on urinary and upper aerodigestive tract cancers are especially implemented in this registry. I have been the head of this registry since October 2017. As a member of the French network of cancer registries, I take part to several working groups of this network, on various topics (GDPR, urological malignancies...). I was elected member of the Grell SC in 2021.
